

It is, perhaps, the most representative route of the city. It drives the visitor along the main streets of the ancient city. The route starts on the feet of the Aqueduct, walking by the main street of the city - Calle Real-. The first stop is the sightseeing point of la Canaleja and close to the surprising Casa de los Picos (Peak's House). Leaving behind the Medina del Campo square and the Romanesque church of San Martin we will reach the Corpus Square dominated by the former Main Synagogue, converted nowadays into the Catholic Church of Corpus Christi. Later on, we will find the Main Square, the Cathedral, and further on the House-Museum of Antonio Machado and the Canonjias quarter. The guide ends with an inner explanation of the Alcazar.
